

From 23 to May 25, was held the second edition of Expo Oficinas 2013 in Lima, Peru. The event attracted over 7,000 people, including architects, designers and representatives of companies interested in acquiring office products.

Interstuhl was present with Mobi Office, our partner and exclusive distributor in Peru, who showed in an impressive stand our most important lines in the Latin American market as MOVYis3, EVERYis1, AirPad, Hero, Goal and Silver.

During the three-day fair interstuhl had a leading role, managing to have the largest number of visitors and which resulted in the great success of architects and designers attendees, including invited Stefan Camenzind architect, designer of the offices of Google, who was delighted with chairs Fit and Silver and took a moment to have a sit and be photographed by the local press.

In Expo Oficinas 2013, Interstuhl positioned itself in the Peruvian market as innovation leader for ergonomic seating solutions beneficial to the health of people.